ACTIVE ASSISTANCE SERVICES

Active Assistance Services Limited (Active Assist) is a company based in Malta providing comprehensive assistance and logistical services usually required in situations of distress such as accidents, illness, hospitalisation or death.

We make every effort to provide the necessary guidance, assistance, service and support to patients or families in distress, based on our local knowledge, contacts and experience.

We strive to give our clients peace of mind, relieving them from any concerns by taking over responsibility for co-ordination of all arrangements for the efficient completion of the required service in a professional manner and within the shortest possible time.

This is achieved through our team of dedicated professionals, our network of carefully selected contractors and the collaboration held with local consulates, airlines, medical facilities, hospitals and government entities.

All our actions are governed by our values of efficiency, responsibility and customer focus; values which have earned us a solid reputation in delivering a trustworthy and professional service.

Our fundamental goal is to provide professional, comprehensive and cost-effective assistance to patients, families, insurance or assistance companies, in all technical, administrative and logistical matters following an accident, illness or death in Malta.

PROVIDING CARE AND ASSISTANCE SINCE 1890

Active Assist started as an offshoot of the Camilleri family's funeral service business, having roots dating as far back as 1890. For five generations the Camilleri family have been renowned in the field of funeral services in Malta and in the 1960's became pioneers in the field of international repatriation of the deceased.

Following decades of experience and thousands of successfully completed repatriation cases to destinations around the globe, the Camilleri family acquired the trust of numerous international connections including shipping agents, travel insurance and assistance companies. The company became the local "go-to" provider for these entities who also required assistance with travel, transport or medical services in Malta; services entirely unrelated to its core business but which it nevertheless provided to offer a complete solution for its clients.

By 2011, as Malta's tourism industry flourished and the Camilleri family became known also for non-funeral related services, Active Assistance Services was incorporated to cope with this demand and specialise in the field of assistance services.

Nowadays, Active Assist offers a wide range of assistance, travel, transport and medical related services and is the selected local provider for numerous travel assistance companies, consulates and other entities requiring such services in Malta.

REPATRIATION OF THE DECEASED

In addition to patient repatriation services, Active Assist offer complete and cost effective solutions for repatriation of the deceased to and from Malta through our in-house freight and logistics department and funeral service company.

Camilleri Funeral Directors International conducted their first repatriation in the late 1960's and have since then successfully completed thousands of cases to destinations across the globe.

Our experience, combined with the collaboration held with local hospitals, government entities, embassies and consulates, enable us to complete all repatriation formalities within the shortest possible time. Furthermore, as freight agents, we negotiate advantageous terms with airlines, researching the best airfreight cost and routing for a seamless and cost-effective repatriation service.

In complex cases involving hard to reach destinations, we turn to our network of reputable funeral agencies present in the vicinity of most international airports throughout Europe, the Americas, Asia and Australia. With their local knowledge and expertise, we are able to organise the most efficient logistical arrangements for the safe return of the departed to their families.

In every repatriation case we ensure all arrangements are carried out with dignity and respect, that all preparations are handled in accordance with international health and airline regulations and the highest standards of professional practices.

We strive to give peace of mind to grieving families, relieving them of all concerns relating to local arrangements and formalities, keeping them informed at every step and providing them with any assistance as may be required, whenever necessary.
